CALL PREPARED FOR 500,000 TO JOIN IN STRIKE

Order for American Federation of Labor Railroad Workers Expected Soon

MEETING TUESDAY

Conference of Railroad Union Heads To Be Held In Cleveland, Ohio. Tomorrow.

Chicago. Oct. 17.—President B. M. Jewell, of the American Federation of Labor Railroad department, prepared a strike call that, when issued, will add 500,000 railroad employes to the walkout already ordered by the big five train service brotherhoods. This call probably will be issued Thursday, according to present plans.

On this date the Railroad Labor Board will summon officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad to show cause why the carrier should not be held in violation of the order of the board directing it to meet employe representatives. If the board holds the Pennsylvania has violated its orders, the American Federation of Labor railroad department, including all of the 13 federated shop crafts unions will take instant action in joining the strike movement.

As the board has already held the Pennsylvania guilty of action "almost treasonable," in defying its order to meet employess for the purpose of naming employe representatives to pass on working rules—the same question to be decided Thursday—it is considered a foregone conclusion that President Jewell will order his unions out and that railroad labor will present a united front October 30, when the general walkout is scheduled to start.

This action, it is stated, is contemplated so that the unions can say that it was the railroads who first violated the orders of the board.

Jewell said that he had not received any request from President Harding to come to Washington for a conference. The rail unions' chiefs expect such a request, it was learned. A hurry up call was issued today for a meeting of the general officers and chairmen of all subsidiary railroad unions, including the clerks, telegraphers and station agents.

"We have taken no definite action as yet, but we are in a position to do so in a hurry," President Fitzgerald, of the clerks said today. The strike plans of the union leaders contemplate a progressive walk out which will hit every section or the country, but which will not im-

ESTIMATES FOR ARMY AND NAVY AVIATION CUT

Limit of $30,000,000 Placed on Expenditures for Next Fiscal Year

NO NEW AIRPLANES

Future of Aviation May Depend on Action Taken at Disarmament Conference Next Month.

The United States government, through contemplated Congressional appropriations, already has begun to limit its armment in the matter of aviation, one of the international defense arms which will receive vast attention during the forthcoming arms conference.

A total of $30,000,000 is the estimate which has been submitted to General Dawes, director of the budget, for army and naval aviation for teh fiscal year ending June 30, 1923.

The "limitation" in this defense branch may be realized when it is recalled that the army and navy asked approximately $70,000,000, and received about $34,000,000 from this Congress.

What this means to the American position in aviation may be realized when the fact is recalled that Congress in 1921 appropriated $53,000,000 for this branch of national defense, whereas, under the estimates for the forthcoming year, the army has been instructed to keep within $13,000,000, and the navy's estimate must be kept within $17,000,000.

As regards the army appropriation, it is contended by authorities that the contemplated $13,000,000 will meet only operating and ordinary expenditures and will leave no margin for experimental work, the building of new type planes and en-

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Washington, Oct. 17.—President Harding left the White House shortly after twelve o'clock on Saturday and walked over to the building occupied by the Interstate Commerce Commission, some three squares away from the Executive Mansion. Although it was the lunch hour, and the building, the Labor Department and clerks from the State, War and Navy other bureaus were walking on Pennsylvania Avenue, it was remarked by those who accompanied the President on his trip how few people recognized the Chief Executive. It remained for the proprietor of a Greek fruit store near the Inter-State Commerce Commision, the young daughter of the keeper of the fruit store presented him with a big, red and yellow apple, the pick of the collection. The President shook the girl by the hand, doffed his hat to her and continued on his way back to the White House.

Friends of Representative Claude Kitchin, of North Carolina, the Democratic floor leader, are glad to learn that he is recovering his health and hopes soon to be able to once more participate in the Congressional proceedings. Mr. Kitchin has been in very poor health for more than a year and, upon the advice of some friends, he went to Albany, N. Y., and put himself under the care of a specialist. Recently the North Carolina state man underwent an operation and it is said that he is very much relieved with the prospects bright for resuming his seat in the House at no distant date.

It seems that sickness appears to pursue the Kitchen family. While Representative Kitchin has been so ill for over a year, his brother, W. W. Kitchin who also served in Congress at one time, has been near death's door for over a month. W. W. Kitchin, after leaving Congress, was elected Governor of North Carolina, but retired from politics to resume the practice of law. He was a forceful debater, like his brother, during his Congressional term and his colleagues were sorry when he decided to retire from the House.

"Uncle Charlie" Patton served as caretaker for the Harding home at Marion, Ohio, and when the President was inaugurated Patton came along with him to see the job properly done. He loafed around the White House for some two weeks before a place was found for him. He is now on pay rolls as an assistant garedenr. While "Uncle Charlie" who is past seventy years of age, can always be found carrying a rake or shovel around with him, the White House attaches have yet to find him doing any work. If he has ever raked a leaf or spaded any of the numerous flower beds that adorn the grounds of the White House no one has ever been aware of the fact. But Patton is the assistant gardner anyhow, even though he don't work over time on his job.

The citizens of Alexandria are going to have an opportunity during the next week or ten days to hear Representative Bourke Cockran address them. Mr. Cockran ,who hails from New York City, as one of the Tammany Hall representatives, is regarded as one of the ablest orators and most forceful speakers in the country. In this respect he has not a peer in the House of Representatives. He don't talk on all occasions, but when he does. the galleries are given a real treat. He has a wonderful flow of language. his gestures are always graceful and he carries home his point in a telling and masterful fashion. The New York Representative has promised Representative R. Walton Moore that he will speak in Alexandria before the close of the Gubernatorial campaign.

Representative "Bob" Doughton, of North Carolina is a dead ringer for the late lamented "Bob" Fitzsimmons of pugilistic fame. Doughton is a great big, red faced, raw boned Congressman, with a small head set on a pair of powerful shoulders. Oftentimes he has been addressed as "Lanky Bob" and his colleagues have a lot of fun with him pointing him out to strangers as the twin brother of the former pugilist. Doughton. incidentally. is something of a fighter himself although he has never graced any prize ring. But they do say that down in North Carolina he has had many a tilt and always made a good showing for himself.

Presbyterian Mission

A colored Presbyterian Mission has been organized in the city. About 20 representative colored men and women united with the Presbyterian Church yesterday, and with a Sunday School of 50 on the roll, they are beginning the work with much interest. A lot has been secured on Wythe street near the colored public school building on which they expect to erect a chapel. They hope to grow soon into an independent church.

CAPTURE STILL IN RAID MADE BY THE POLICE

Fifteen Gallon Affair and Mash and Bottles Are Evidence

TWO MEN ARE HELD

James and George McDonald, Brothers, Arrested. Still Found at James McDonald's Residence Say Police.

In a raid made by the police today at noon at the residence of James McDonald at the Broomilaw brickyard on Hunting Creek the police captired one fifteen gallon copper still complete, one oil stove, a forty gallon barrel of sour mash, one five gallon tub of sour mash and a quantity of bottles.

They also took in custody James McDonald, who rents the place, it is claimed and his brother, George McDonald, of Asheville, N. C., who has been visiting here a few weeks.

The still, the police say, was in the yard of the house and the other goods in the cellar.

The equipment, together with the prisoners wers brought to police headquarters in the patrol wagon. The raid was made by Policemen Durrer, Magner and Lawrence Padgett.

The sour mash was so strong that policemen had to place it in the south wing of the police headquarters.

Both of the men denied ownership of the still when taken in custody. The arrest was made by the police on a warrant following imformation obtained by them several days ago.

That Alexandria is coming forward as a city of "hootch" makers is evident by the large number of stills now being captured by the police. Most of the alleged liquor put out by these amateurs is absolutely poison it is stated by those in a position to know.

LAUNCH A BIG DRY DRIVE TO COVER THE U.S.

State Enforcement Units When Found Weak Will Be Reorganized

KENTUCKY SUPPLY

Commissioner Haynes Will Try to Stop Supply of Whiskey Coming From Blue Grass State.

Washington, Oct. 17.— A Federal prohibition clean-up and shake-up such as the country has not experienced since the Eighteenth Amendment was ratified and the Volstead act was pssed is under way.

Beginning in the two great wet States of the East, New York and Pennsylvania which are counted among the Commonwealths where prohibition was received with greatest reluctance, and where it has been enforced with indifferent success, the clean up under the direct generalship of Prohibition Commissioner Roy A. Haynes, will extend into many other States, it was learned authoritatively today.

Westward the campaign will make its way, if necessary. State enforcement organizations, it is declared in officoial circles, which prove weak or worse will be reorganized. Local officials will be cashiered if they do not produce results and replaced by trusted lieutenants of Commissionr Haynes. On the other hand, where local officers actually try to combat violators of the law they will be given the full cooperation of the Federal forces, supplanting them. But where local enforcement organiztions seem wilfully ineffective there will be new faces in the State oraginzations, it is asserted.

The newest campaign to enforce prohibition is unique, in that the theory behind it is to stop the source of supply, rather than pursue the supply after it is found at large

KIWANIS CLUB ADDRESS

Supervisor of Schools, Miss Mary D. Pierce, Discusses The School Problem Before Business Men

In an address given before the Kiwanis Club on last Thursday, Miss Mary D. Pierce, Supervisor of Alexandria Schools, pointed out to the business men of this city the next steps that should be taken for the betterment of the school systems in this city.

The first step, said Miss Pierce, should be the step in which each business man of the city should realize that the schools are for the betterment of his business and that they are also an economical investment, in that it is much cheaper to care for the child by educating him than to care for the criminals and paupers which increase at such an alarming rate when education is set in the back-ground.

The second step, according to Miss Pierce, should be in the form of mastering the problem of retardation in our schools. She was in possession of statistics which showed that only about 50 per cent of the beginners make the first grade in one year. The percentage of failures in the other grades she showed to be as follows. Second grade, 14 per cent; third grade, 14 per cent; fourth grade, 22 per cent; fifth grade, 34 per cent; and the sixth grade, 22 per cent. These figures include only the children remaining throughout the year.

One thing, she said, the city is to be congratulated upon is the experience and maturity of the present staff. Due to war time, she says that only about 25 per cent of the present staff are normal school graduates and that to get back to a pre-war standard that this percentage should be gradually raised till it ranges from 80 to 90 per cent. Nearly all the teachers have had summer normal training, three summers of which is equivalent to one full year's work at a normal school.

To have the children habitually stay back in their grades, said Miss Pierce, is what may be called a bad investment, as each case of retardation means an unnecessary increase in that particular class for the next session, and when many such cases occur, the services of an additional teacher are required, thus causing an expenditure of funds which could be more profitably used in some other branch of the school work.

She suggested that the Kiwanis Club secure some school expert to speak before the club and also to address the public on the needs of the schools of this city.

PEACE TREATY DEPENDS UPON STAND OF FOUR

Opponents of German Pact Claim Slight Shift in Vote Will Mean Defeat

TO HURRY DECISION

Republicans Fear Delay Will Result In Desertion of Their Democratic Allies.

Washington, Oct 17.—The day appointed for final consideration of the peace treaty with Germany finds the Senate so divided that a change of four votes would result in the rejection of the pact. The same situation applies to the treaties with Austria and Hungary.

So unstable is this balance that the Republicans tonight have about decided to go to a vote as soon as possible—not even waiting for the filling of the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Knox, because, though this would give them another vote for the treaty, the delay might result in the falling to the other side some of the Democrats now counted on their side.

The Administration figures 11 Democrats as safe for the treaty, they have hopes for one or two more—Dial, of South Carolina, for example—and some of them expect his colleague, Smith, to vote the same way, but of the following 11 they have no doubt: Underwood, Hitchcock, Fletcher, Trammel, Pomerene, Shields Walsh (of Massachusetts), Broussard, Gerry, Kendrick and Myers.

The Democrats led by Pat Harrison refuse to admit the immutability of the list.

On the doubtful list, in addition to the couple mentioned as hoped for by the Republicans, are listed Jones of New Mexico; Pittman, Ransdell and

A coroner's jury will meet at 7.30 o'clock tonight at Wheatley's mortuary chapel for the purpose of investigating the circumstances attending the death of Henry Briscoe, 33 years old, of Fairfax county, who died at 6:35 o'clock last night at the Alexandria Hospital from the effects of two bullet wounds he received Saturday night while near his home, alleged to have been inflicted by William H. Oehlert, of this city.

Oehlert was taken in custody at his home in South Fayette Street yesterday morning about 5 o'clock, and yesterday afternoon he was committed to the jail at Fairfax Courthouse. A charge of murder will be entered against him by the Fairfax authorities.

A date for the preliminary hearing has not yet been decided upon.

A preliminary investigation of the case this morning was made before Justice of the Peace Frank W. Troth, of Mount Vernon district at Pulman's store, Fairfax county, although Oehlert was not present at this hearing.

Justice Troth after hearing the evidence in the case held Richard Stuart, a jitney driver of this city, for the action of the grand jury without bond. Stuart expects, however, to give bond at Fairfax Court house later in the day.

Richard C. Burnett, who was in the car with Oehlert, and Edward Patterson, who was in the car with Stuart' were ordered to appear befor the grand jury and their bonds of $500 each were taken by the court.

Two others to testify at the hearing were Henry L. Hibbs, of Washington, who was in the automobile truck with Briscoe and R. P. Cralle' of Fairfax county, who also was in the car with Briscoe.

According to the testimony of Cralle he was driving a truck of which Briscoe and Hibbs were occupants. When about two miles south of Alexandria they stopped their car, turning into a byroad and Briscoe got out to get a letter from a mail box.

A car driven by Edward Paterson belonging to Richard Stuart about that time drove up and Stuart asked why they had cut him off. All were about ready to resume their trip when the car driven by Oehlert drove up. Oehlert got out of his car said the witness and got on the running board of Stuart's car. Witness then said Oehlert pulled a gun in his face and a minute afterward flashed two guns on Hibbs and Briscoe and witness said they backed away. Burnett told Oehlert to come away and put away his guns. According to the witness Oehlert then got into his car and fired five shots as he started to drive away. Witness said he took Briscoe to the Alexandria Hospital in the truck. According to Cralle there had been no harsh words and there was no occasion for the shooting.

H. L. Hibbs, of Washington, told the court he and Briscoe and Cralle were enroute to their homes in Fairfax county from Alexandria, and Stuart accused Briscoe of cutting him off. At the time of the shooting they had started homeward he said and Stuart had left the scene.

Richard C. Burnett told the court that he took a ride with Oehlert Saturday night at Oehlert's suggestion. Oehlert he said did the shooting and he begged Oehlert not to get into trouble. Prior to the shooting of Briscoe Oehlert fired a shot into a gulley Burnett said. Following the shooting Burnett said that Oehlert said to Stuart, "I used all six of them." Burnett also testified that before the shooting, some stones were thrown toward Oehlert's car.

Police Sergeant Wilkinson exhibited an automatic pistol which he said was found in Stuart's car.

Edward Patterson testified that he did not witness the shooting. He said he was driving Stuart's car from Camp Humphreys at the time.

The first witness called was Richard Stuart. At the request of Attorney Charles Henry Smith, his attorney, who also represented Patterson and who had been retained as counsel for Oehlert, Stuart did not take the stand.

The hearing this morning was attended by Mayor Duncan, Chief of Police C. T. Goods, Sergeants W. J. Wilkinson and William Campbell

TODAY'S THOUGHT The ugliest of trades have their moments of pleasure. Now, if I were a grave-digger, or even a hangman, there are some people I could work for with a great deal of enjoyment.

Douglas Jerrold.

CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL

It is a significant fact that our esteemed fellow-townswoman, Dr. Kate Waller Barrett, was able to carry her resolution in the recent convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution, endorsing the Confederate Memorial Park at Manassas. It is significant in its indication that sectional lines are being wiped out, and an auspicious augury that some day the heroes of the Confederacy will be enshrined in the heart of the Nation. Dr. Barrett is to be complimented on her good work in getting the distinguished body of women composing the D. A. R., lined up behind the Memorial at Manassas. That she should be re-elected State Regent of The Daughters was a foregone conclusion.

PRESIDENT WILSON INVITED

Some weeks ago the Gazette proposed that President Wilson be invited, as a matter of simple courtesy, to attend the meetings of the Disarmament Conference. We have not as yet noted that this suggestion has been acted upon. But we read with pleasure that he has been invited to attend the ceremonies at Arlington. It is not too late, and we shall be surprised, not to say shocked, if partisan feeling shall run so high as to ignore the man beyond all other men who made such conference possible. Our neighbor, the Washington Herald, says in Saturday's issue: "Americans would resent, as Americans, any slight to a man they had twice honored with the presidency, and his inclusion in the ceremonies at Arlington and of the conference gathering is just as much a matter of course as that they would hardly be complete without him. He represented American idealism to all the Old World, and this conference is a sequence of the Peace Conference at Paris, of which he was one of the chief characters."

Defends Work on Constitution

Representative Moore Takes Colonel Anderson to Task for Critical Attitude

Representative R. Walton Moore, of the Eighth Virginia District, who was a member of the constitutional convention of 1901-02, referred recently to the extreme criticism of conditions in Virginia by Colonel Henry W. Anderson, Republican candidate for Governor, and particularly his denunciation of the present Constitution and the suffrage plan which it provides, including the poll tax.

"Although," said Mr. Moore, "Mr. Anderson now goes the limit in denouncing the Constitution as vicious and iniquitous, he not only recognized that, so far as the suffrage provisions were concerned, it was the necessary and proper step to take, but he gave it his distinct approval after it had been in effect for about six years. In his speech of October 17, 1908, introducing Mr. Taft, who was then running for the Presidency, Mr. Anderson, as reported in the Times-Dispatch, said:

Problem Well Solved

"'The problems with which the Southern people were confronted as a result of the Civil War have for the past forty years challenged their closest attention and prevented natural division upon economic and political questions. The generation that is passing away has devoted its attention to the task of solving these problems in a manner which would preserve our institutions of government in their purity and do justice to all classes. When we consider the difficulties to be overcome, the small resources at their command, and the results which have been accomplished, the achievements of the last generation compare well with those of her sons in the more brilliant periods of her history and merit the lasting gratitude of generations to come. But, happily, these problems have been solved and these conditions have passed.

"'The reason urged for the Constitution of 1902 was that the adjustment of the problem which that instrument sought to settle would leave the people of this State free to divide upon economic questions, and thus increase the influence of Virginia in national affairs and promote the political and industrial progress of her people.

Last Step in Long Work

"'The adoption of that Constitution was the last step in the work of forty years, which has placed the institutions of this State upon a sound basis, has assured the supremacy of intelligence in our government, and has opened to the people of all races and all classes an opportunity to reap and enjoy the rewards of good citizen-ship.'

"Mr. Anderson, who then praised the Constitution," commented Mr. Moore, "now urges that it be summarily swept away. At the same time he suggests no substitute in the way of suffrage restrictions that would prevent the State from being returned to the condition that obtained in Virginia and other Southern States prior to the adoption of existing Constitutions, without which their institutions would not be upon 'a sound basis' and the 'supremacy of intelligence' would not be assured. Apparently he is willing to unsolve the problems for which the Constitution found a solution and again bring to the front the race questions and suffrage controversies that it disposed of."—Norfolk Va.-Pilot.

Burial Should Be Permanent

Under President Taft the United States construed our canal treaties with Great Britain as not forbidding toll exemptions in favor of American coastwise shipping.

Under President Wilson the Senate construed these treaties as forbidding them and repealed the exemptions that the Senate had two years before approvd.

Under President Harding the Senate has reconstrued the treaties as being compatible with pro-American exemptions, and has voted to re-enact the canal tolls bill that the Senate of seven years ago repealed.

On June 11, 1914, the Senate voted, 50 to 35, to repeal what the Senate on October 10, 1921, voted 27 to 37, to re-enact.

Nothing so stamps as disgraceful the Senate's attempt to pay a partisan debt at the expense of the nation's honor, as its own record of vacillation. Three changes of mind in the space of three administrations are sufficient proof that in the opinion of the Senate itself the "equality of treatment" provisions of the Clayton-Bulwer and Hay-Pauncefote treaties are at least open to conflicting interpretations. Either that is true or the Senate has in three successive administrations been all the time aware that the treaties were capable of only one construction, but has for political reasons pretended that they meant one thing in 1914 and another thing in 1921.

Unless it be assumed that in the canal tolls controversy the Senate was given to a particularly low form of political trickery, it must be assumed that in successive terms it has honestly held differing opinions as to the implication of the British-American treaties. If the Senate has changed its mind three times in nine years, how many times will it change its mind in the years to come?

The question raises the issue that exposes the iniquity of last Monday's performance. The issue is whether a treaty entered into by two sovereigns is to be construed with the consent of both sovereigns or only with the consent of one. In effect, the Senate says that what the treaties mean depends upon its changing mind. Having construed the treaties in conformity with the partisan fashion of the hour, the Senate coolly leaves the nations aggrieved by its decision to swallow it or go to war.

Treaty obscurities should be cleared up by the parties that made them. That means two-sided arbitration—not one-sided legislation. That is the method consonant with the spirit of the day—consonant with the spirit of the forthcoming disarmament conference. The method pursued by the Senate is the method of Germany before the war.

Little wonder that the administration is so ashamed of this performance that the canal tolls bill has been unofficially ordered buried in the House until after the adjournment of the disarmament conference. Americans, less concerned with the subsidy-hunger of our coastwise shipping corporations than with pursuing the course of honor in our national engagements, will hope that the interment in the House will be permanent. —Norfolk Va.-Pilot.

REO SEDAN WINS PRIZE

Taking prizes in a beauty contest is a new and rather unique roll played by a REO Sedan and Touring car. But this is what happened at the International Wheat Show in Wichita, Kansas, the other day, and a description of the beauty parade has just been received by Mr. Dickerson of the Dickerson Garage local REO distributors in a letter from the Wichita distributor.

The Reo Touring car was entered in the $1,000 to $2,000 class, and the new Sedan was entered in the $2,000 to $3,000 class. The points upon which the judges based their decision were appearance, smoothness of operation and ease of control. The REO Sedan took first prize and the new REO light seven outranked everything in its class. The automobile fashion parade an dcontest were features of the wheat show in Wichita. More than one hundred cars of different makes were entered in the show.

According to reports and newspaper comments from Wichita, the REO passenger cars which were exhibited during the fair attracted unusual attention. Particularly the new REO light seven was an object of considerable interest among the auto enthusiasts. During the exhibit every car entered in the beauty contest was put through its paces the same as at a horse show and both the REO sedan and the new REO light seven surpassed the other entries in point of appearance, both models scored heavily in regard to smoothness of operation and ease of control, and established the new REO line of Passenger cars as the most beautiful in America.

SELLS TRUCKS TO CANADIANS

The records of the Reo Motor Car Company show that the number of trucks exported into Canada in August this year represented an increase of 150 per cent over the number that were sent to Canada from the United States in August of last year.

The Shade on a Fixture Covereth a Multitude of Sins
Cleverness Finds a Way to Hide Unsightly Chandelier

What Is the Best Shape for a Shade? Round or Oval, Square or Octagon? It All Depends on Size of Room and Also on Type of Fixture It Is to Cover

By DOROTHY ETHEL WALSH.

THE shops of to-day display various lighting fixtures of pleasing designs. Lucky is the woman who can make her choice for her new home from them. But that there are many homes fitted with fixtures that are relics from an inartistic period is a known fact, and it is of such homes that I wish to speak to-day.

Gas and electric illumination is of comparatively recent birth. It is no wonder that those first appliances which carried these wonders of illumination lacked grace and symmetry. The fact that they were the means of carrying them made them beautiful in the eyes of a generation used to the flickering light from kerosene lamps. It was not until their children and children's children, used to modern comforts from infancy, demanded that beauty of line be included in these harbingers of light. Thence the products of to-day.

The old homes stand, however, and equipped with the scrolled and twisted fixtures of yesterday they offer a problem to the housewife of to-day.

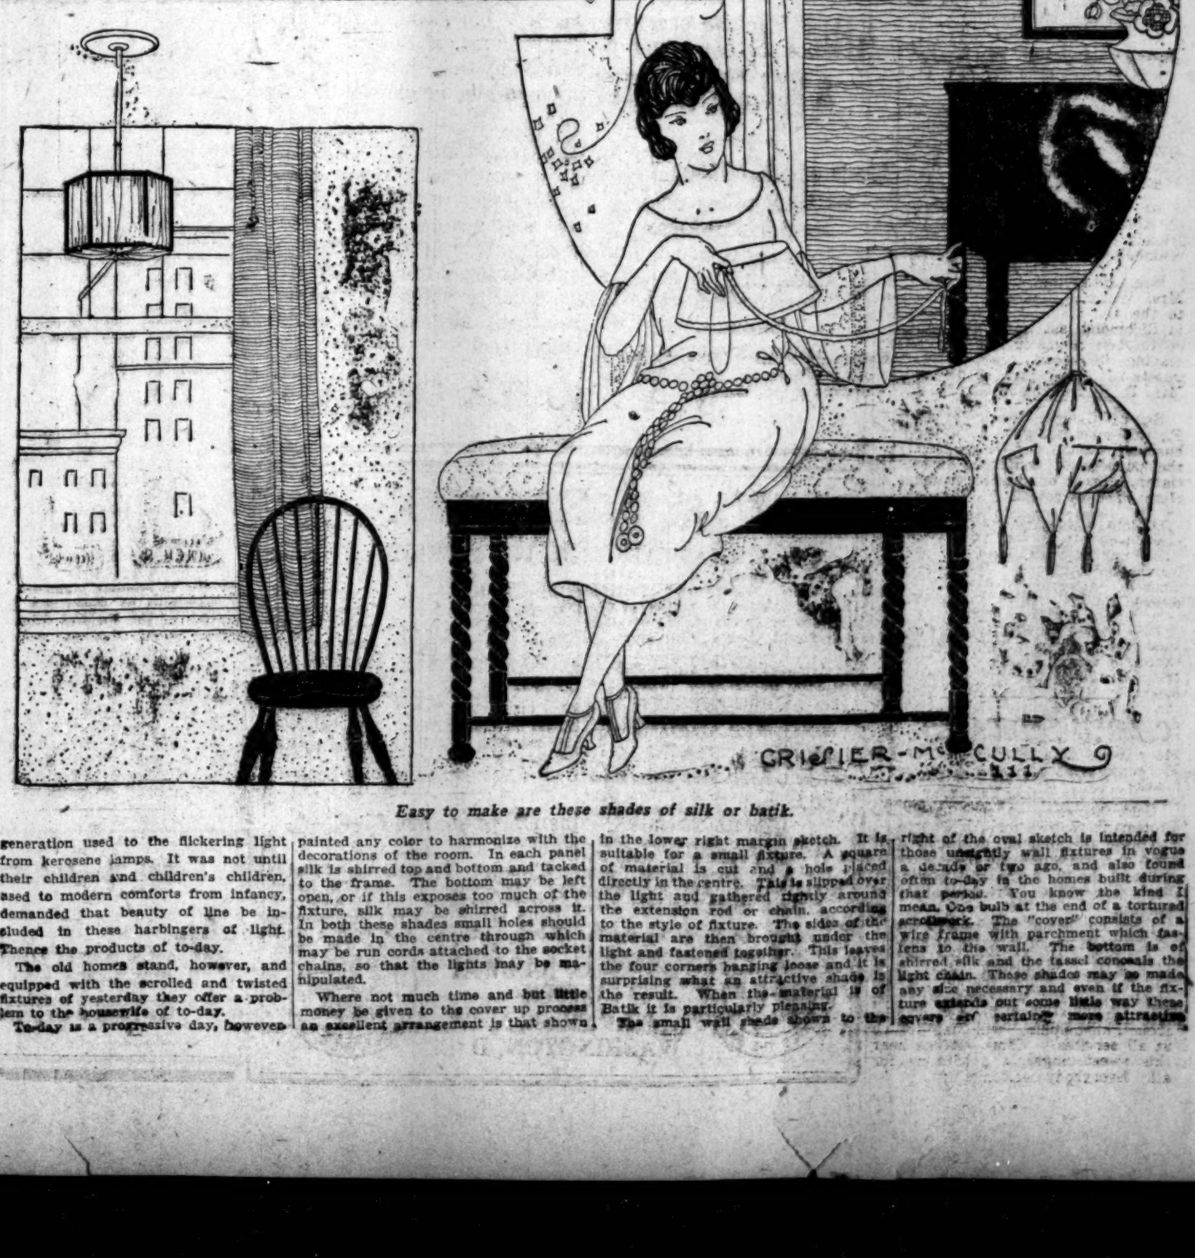
To-day is a progressive day, however and the progressive housewife has said to herself that though fixtures may be old time looking, she can dress them to look modern, and as to-day's illustrations show she has admirably succeeded.

In the oval sketch is shown a round shade which conceals an unsightly combination gas and electric chandelier. The side of the shade is made of parchment with tan background and yellow and blue flowers. The bottom is made of blue silk, which is loosely gathered in to the centre, from which extends a blue silk tassel. It is hung by blue silk cords. It makes a charming centre light, and a soft illumination based on the theory of inverted lighting is the result.

To the left is shown another attractive shade for a hanging fixture. It is made of a wooden frame which may be painted any color to harmonize with the decorations of the room. In each panel silk is shirred top and bottom and tacked to the frame. The bottom may be left open, or if this exposes too much of the fixture, silk may be shirred across it. In both these shades small holes should be made in the centre through which may be run cords attached to the socket chains, so that the lights may be manipulated.

Where not much time and but little money be given to the cover up process an excellent arrangement is that shown in the lower right margin sketch. It is suitable for a small fixture. A square of material is cut and a hole placed directly in the centre. This is slipped over the light and gathered tightly around the extension rod or chain, according to the style of fixture. The sides of the material are then brought under the light and fastened together. This leaves the four corners hanging loose and it is surprising what an attractive shade is the result. When the material is of Batik it is particularly pleasing.

The small wall shade shown to the right of the oval sketch is intended for those unsightly wall fixtures in vogue a decade or two ago, and also found often to-day in the homes built during that period. You know the kind I mean. One bulb at the end of a tortured scrollwork. The "cover" consists of a wire frame with parchment which fastens to the wall. The bottom is of shirred silk and the tassel conceals the light chain. These shades may be made any size necessary and even if the fixture extends out some little way these covers are certainly more attractive



Easy to make are these shades of silk or batik.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

A Word About Stove Coal:--

For the past few years it has been impossible to secure enough Anthracite Stove coal to supply the demand which has been caused by the limited amount of this particular size which can be developed at the mines

The Egg, Nut and Pea coals are all domestic sizes of Anthracite and in practically every case one of them, or a good Domestic Bituminous coal, can be satisfactorily and ecnomically substituted for the Stove coal and we ask our trade to study the question of a practical substitute as the scarcity of Stove coal is in no way a local problem but has to be contended with in practically all sections where Anthracite coal is generally used.

Produce Both With Purina Chows

Why do Purina-fed hens lay more eggs right through the moult? It's because they get more protein and it takes lots of it for feathers and eggs. Feathers run as high as 90% protein. Whites of eggs are nearly all protein. Feed a balanced ration—

Enough Protein for Feathers and Eggs

Purina Chows keep the hens from robbing their flesh to get the materials they need. Get a shorter moult and more winter eggs. Ask about the Purina Guarantee—and City Sergeant R. H. Cox. There were about twenty-five spectators in attendance.

The shooting took place at 10 o'clock Saturday night near the place of Pierce Reed, about two miles south of Alexandria. The police about midnight received word of the affair and soon the witnesses were gotten together and two were detained by the police pending the result of the shooting.

It was about 5 o'clock yesterday morning when Oehlert was taken in custody at his home in South Fayette street by Policemen Nowland, Lawrence Padgett, Cline and Talbot.

Oehlert when seen yesterday afternoon at police station by a representative of The Gazette and asked for a statement regarding the shooting declared that he did not care to say anything at this time on the advice of his counsel.

At 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon Oehlert was taken to Fairfax to the jail at Fairfax Courthouse by Sheriff J. R. Allison and Deputy Sheriff Harvey Cross. Justice Troth came to police headquarters and made out the necessary papers.

Briscoe was conscious to the end. A short time before his death he made a statement to Chief of Police Goods regarding the shooting, although he could barely talk at the time.

As soon as Briscoe was brought to the Alexandria Hospital and examination was made by Dr. S. B. Moore who ascertained that one of the bullets had penetrated his abdomen and the second his thigh. No hope was held out for his recovery.

Following his death last night his body was taken to Wheatley's chapel and a coroner's jury summoned by Sergeant R. H. Cox, Coroner T. M. Jones and the jury viewed the body at 10 o'clock and adjourned over till 7:30 o'clock tonight. The jury is composed of John McCuen, M. P. Pitts, John W. Garner, E. H. Lewis, James L. Foster, W. K. Griffith.

Briscoe was a native of Swannanoa, North Carolina, and had lived for the past three years in Fairfax county. He is survived by his wife and six small children. The funeral arrangements have not ben completed. Mr. Briscoe was a member of the Masons and Odd Fellows' of Swannanoa, North Carolina. Representatives of the Alexandria Masons and Odd Fellows will look out after the funeral arrangements. The deceased for several years had been employed as a conductor on the Washington-Virginia Railway Company and recently owing to a cut in the force he was let out and it is understood that he was employed by the Washington and Old Dominion Railroad.

The deceased was well known in Alexandria where he had many friends.

Oehlert on the night of November 12, 1918, while in the Southern Railway yards in this city, shot and killed Linwood Kidwell where both were employed. He was given three trials before his case finally was disposed of. His first trial took place in April, 1919, and in April 1, 1919, a jury returned a verdict of guilty and fixed his punishment at ten years in the penitentiary.

May 10, 1919, a second trial was held and this resulted in a hung jury. On September 27, 1919, a jury from Fredericksburg, Judge Chichester of Fredericksburg, presiding found Oehlert guilty of involuntary manslaughter nad he was sentenced to serve six months in jail. The court allowed the time he had spent in jail to go on his sentences and he had only eighteen days to stay in jail.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear mother, MAGGIE ALE, who departed this life three years ago today October 17th, 1917.

You are not forgotten dear mother,
Nor never will you be,
As long as life and memory lasts
We will remember you.

Three years ago today dear mother,
We kissed your loving brow,
But in our aching hearts we know,
We have no mother now.

I often sit and think of you,
When I am all alone,
For memory is the only friend
Our grief can call its own.

By her children, Mary and Edward.

LAUNCHED BIG DRY DRIVE

More than half of the nation's legitimately manufactured whisky, it is stated here today, is stored in Kentucky warehouses and whisky in great quantities, it seems, has been making its way up through Pennsylvania from Kentucky and into New York. The first move now under way, it is said, is to put the lid down tighter than it ever has been upon the Kentucky warehouses

Prohibitionists have contended from the start that so long as the supplies leaked from their source the chase of individaul bootlueggers with the staff of field agents the Government is able to command is more or less futile. Enforcement officals now are convinced of the same thing.

Stanley.

The rest of the Democrats are solidly against the treaty. The fireworks will begin tomorrow. Walsh, of Massachusetts, who made the speech the other day that was credited with having brought the total of Democratic votes against the treaty up to its present figure, is going to present some amendments, and others have reservations that may influence some of the Democrats who have declared themselves in favor of a treaty, simply because they feel that the existing conditions must not continue to stand out with the idea that the Republicans will except reservations rather than risk the rejection of the pact.

Hitchcock is to speak and while he had announced that he would vote for the treaty, he is expected to define his attitude more definitely and it is not impossible that the reservation rule will appeal to him. Johnson of California, whose breaks with Borah on the treaty question caused surprise, also is going to talk and Reed, who fought his fellow Democrats when the Versailles treaty was up, but is with them in their opposition to the present treaty, will contribute to the excitement. Oscar Underwood really holds the fate of the treaty in his hands. If he came over he would bring half a dozen other Democrats over with him. So far Underwood has resisted all pressure and argument to get him to join the bulk of his party.

gines so as to keep pace with aviation in other countries.

For this reason a supplementary estimate has been prepared and is being held in the hope that Congress will take a liberal view and authorize a "conservative" building program between the two extremes.

Both army and navy need a certain number of new planes yearly of the most modern type, to keep pace with the development of aviation. Old war stock is practically obsolete, and many of the planes are so out of date as to be dangerous. For the same reason much of the material and supply is of no use.

The estimates of $13,000,000 for naval aviation, are opposed to $25,000,000 for the fiscal year of 1922, $20,000,000 for the fiscal year of 1921, and $14,500,00 for the present fiscal year. Out of present and past estimates about half a millon dollars were taken care of by other bureaus in salvage which will come out of the new estimates.

At present the navy is using war stocks to the extent of nearly 50 per cent of the total yearly expenditure. These stocks, however, are rapidly diminishing and are also becoming obsolete as new types of planes are constantly being developed, leaving much of the war stock out of date. This depreciation is expected to amount to the difference between appropriations last year and the $13,000,000 asked this year.

For the next fiscal year naval officials hope that Congress will give at least $13,000,000 without the usual paring, as this sum has been carefully fixed by the department in co-operation with the Dawes Budget Commission.

mediately tie up the entire country The strike will start on the Southern Pacific or one of its subsidiary lines, the International and Great Northern of Texas. The train service men will be called out there next Saturday "as a warning" unless President Harding succeeds in halting the walkout.

On Sunday, October 30, walkouts will be called on the Chicago and Northwestern, Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, and Great Northern, to cripple northwest transportations; the Missouri Pacific and Louisville and Nashville and possibly the Illinois Central—to hit the Mississippi Valley; the Seaboard Air Line to cripple the Atlantic Coast, and possibly the Boston and Maine. All these railroads are included in the first group.

It was first intended to include the New York, New Haven and Hartford in this group, as well as the Chicago, Burlington nad Quincy, but these plans were changed.

W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, will probably be named "generalissimo," of the strike. Lee has been the most insistent member of the "Big Five" for direct action against the executives.

FEEBLE BLOOD WORKS HAVOC

Gude's Pepto-Mangan Makes Red Blood; Liquid and Tablet Form

When blood becomes thin and weak it is due to the falling off in the number of red blood cells. It is easily recognized by pallid skin or blemished complexion, loss of appetite or unnatural irritability and a sensation of weakness. It is not dangerous at first. In fact, many people scarcely notice it and go for days thinking they will be better the next day.

The great danger is in the possibility of becoming seriously ill from disease, whish can work havoc in a body that lacks the endurance and resistance in rich, red blood.

Taken in time and steadily, a few bottles of Gude's Pepto-Mangan are a great help. It improves the quality of the blood by adding red blood cells. They check the weakness, improve the appetite, and clear the complexion.

You can get Gude's Pepto-Mangan in liquid and tablet form at your druggist's. Get the genuine with the name "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" on the package. Adv.

An Important Part of Fall Houseleaning

Clean your electric bulbs and fixtures thoroughly and carefully. This is an economic measure as well as a feature of good housekeeping. In order to get full value of the current you are using, let the light gleam through clear, shining glass.

To Clean Lamp Bulbs

Remove them from fixture. Wipe the glass part with a damp cloth and polish with dry cloth.

To Clean Fixtures

Remove the glass shades and wash in warm, soapy water. It may be necessary to use a small brush. The inverted bowls of semi-indirect lights should be wiped with a hot damp cloth and a little non-scratching cleaning power.

Shirred silk shades can sometimes be cleaned by brushing well, first with a dry brush, then with brush dipped in lukewarm suds, and drying at once with a soft towel. Delicate and expensive shades should be dry cleaned.

Polish brass and other metal parts and wipe with a dry cloth the long silk cords on floor and table lamps. Use Furniture polish on mahogany finished lamp bases.
